

8th Grade – Unit 4: On the Phone

WILL / WON'T: TALKING ABOUT FUTURE.

Talking About Future Decisions:

In daily conversations, we use “will” and “won’t” to quickly talk about future actions, promises, or predictions. These forms are perfect for making decisions, offering to help, or predicting what might happen. Let’s take a look at how we can use “will” and “won’t” effectively.

Using "Will" and "Won't"

“Will” is used to express actions in the future. When we decide to do something immediately, we use “will” to express that decision. On the other hand, “won't” is the negative form of “will” and is used to say that we won’t do something.

Examples:

- I will call you as soon as possible.
→ Here, the speaker has just decided to call and expresses it immediately.
- I will drink something.
→ The speaker has quickly decided to get a drink and shares it in the moment.
- I won't be late.
→ The speaker promises not to be late.

Forms of "Will": Affirmative, Negative, and Interrogative

Form	Structure	Example Sentence
Affirmative	Subject + will + Verb (V1)	I will call you tomorrow.
Negative	Subject + will not (won't) + Verb (V1)	I won't be late.
Interrogative	Will + Subject + Verb (V1)?	Will you help me?

Explanation of Forms:

- Affirmative (Positive): The speaker says they will do something in the future.
  - Example: "I will go to the park."
- Negative: The speaker says they will not do something in the future. Use “will not” or the short form “won’t” to make it negative.
  - Example: "I won't forget your birthday."
- Interrogative (Question): To ask a question, start with “will” at the beginning of the sentence. Answers are usually “Yes, I will” or “No, I won’t.”
  - Example: "Will you join us for dinner?"
